FISD MANAGEMENT REPORT

FISD enjoyed a very active year on many fronts, reflecting our broad and engaged membership. Membership continued to grow as key players joined like Campbell & Company, Canada Pension Plan Investment Board, Credit Suisse, Danske Bank, DTCC, E*Trade, Solace Systems, Velocimetrics, and Winton Capital Management.

In the first half of the year, the FISD Executive Committee undertook an extensive research project to assess overall FISD member satisfaction. Through a combination of personal interviews and online surveys, the Executive Committee was pleased to find that member satisfaction was high with 92% “Satisfied” or “Very Satisfied.” The research also identified a number of opportunities for new and improved services that will be addressed in 2017.

Events around the world remained one of the best ways for FISD members to make contacts and address business issues. Over 3,000 member executives attended 35 FISD events in 2016. Over the course of the year, FISD staff worked with the membership to enhance the process for developing event content. Judging from post-event survey results, these efforts have already paid dividends. FISD events received invaluable support from Global Sponsors including ICE Data Services, S&P Global Market Intelligence, and Tullett Prebon. I am pleased to report that these three sponsors have agreed to sponsor FISD events in 2017!

FISD members gathered together in committee, working group, and constituent group meetings to share information and find “win-win” solutions to pressing industry issues. The Service Level & Communications Working Group named member ICE Data Services “Data Provider of the Year”; the BIPPS Working Group continued to update its glossary of terms and definitions, and a sub-group of the Consumer Constituent Group published a vendor scorecard template that was shared with the entire membership.

FISD’s professional certification program had an outstanding 2016 as more than 350 candidates sat for the Financial Information Associate (FIA) examination bringing the total number of FIA-certified executives to over 1,000. In 2017, we will add to the program with higher-level certifications that build on the FIA foundation.

In 2017, we are looking forward to the 13th World Financial Information Conference, WFIC 2017, in Barcelona, Spain. WFIC 2017 will once again be supported by sponsors including Platinum Sponsor Deutsche Börse and Host Sponsor Thomson Reuters. As we move through 2017, FISD member committees and working groups will be working to identify the key topics and speakers for the WFIC program.

I would like to close by thanking Steve Listhaus and Yousaf Hafeez as they complete their two-year terms as Chair, and Vice Chair respectively, of the FISD Executive Committee. Over a successful period for FISD, they provided the organization with steady leadership and counsel.
As I conclude my tenure as Chair of the Executive Committee for FISD, I wanted to share some parting thoughts.

As I said in my remarks last year, I give enormous credit to FISD for building and running an organization that brings together constituent groups that often view issues differently. Roger Fisher in his well-recognized book on negotiation — Getting to Yes — said, “The ability to see the situation as the other side sees it, as difficult as it may be, is one of the most important skills a negotiator can possess.” First and foremost my tenure on the Executive Board has given me a great opportunity to understand the concerns and positions of the Vendor and Exchange Constituents which informs me in ways that influence both how I approach my work at Wells Fargo and my contributions to FISD.

In the end we are all, for the most part, chasing the same goal – the maximization of shareholder value. The shareholder value mantra became popular in the 1980's and remains strong today. In the end this quest across all of our constituent groups creates much of the tension in our industry as information providers, value added resellers, aggregators and consumers battle over pricing and the fair allocation of margins and costs. It’s a wonder our meetings and events don’t resemble some of the scenes from Gangs of New York.

Frankly, if you have attended FISD meetings or events what you see is quite the opposite: a group of people who may have different views and organizational pressures on the same issues but still recognize the need and show the desire to work together to find a compromise in which all parties are able to adequately answers to their shareholders’ demands. FISD plays a crucial role here when it works across Constituency Groups by carefully abiding by guidelines that are fair to all constituents and by approaching issues with deep understanding and sensitivity to the concerns of all parties.

By all reasonable metrics, FISD has had a very good year. Membership is strong, events are well attended and highly rated, our financial position is strong enabling moderate degrees of increasing investment, and many programs are advancing, starting and maturing. These achievements belong to FISD as a whole — firstly to its dedicated leadership and leadership team who year after year build on the successes of the prior years to strive for additional value creation. The Executive & GOAC Committee members, as well as the leads of the constituent groups and their programs, layer on top of the strong foundation of the FISD organization and provide industry insight and guidance to the direction and goals of the organizations. And, most important of all, we value the membership who participate in panels and events, constituent meetings and the various committees within and across constituency groups. I’d like to also recognize Yousaf Hafeez for servicing as Vice Chair and for all of his contributions to FISD.

In summary, FISD is an organization firing on all cylinders and will certainly continue to do so in the years ahead. It was an honor to serve as Executive Chairman in 2015 and 2016 and I intend to keep my participation level with the FISD high. I know that our new 2017 Executive Chair and Vice Chair and all of the current and newly elected members of the Executive Committee and constituent leadership teams will bring their enthusiasm and skills to bear on the challenges and opportunities ahead.
Americas
The Americas Region was as busy as usual in 2016, including major quarterly events in New York City, semi-annual gatherings in Toronto and one each in Chicago and São Paolo.

Popular topics included:
• The impact of mergers and acquisitions in our industry
• The increasing use of unstructured data
• Cybersecurity threats
• Maintaining compliance with “Know Your Vendor” regulations
• A detailed look at the complexities of “professional” vs “non-professional” classification for users
• The always important issue of data quality

Asia Pacific
In addition to the eight events in our four regional centers (Sydney, Singapore, Hong Kong, and Tokyo), FISD conducted Women’s Group events in Hong Kong and Singapore. The large retail participation in Asia trading was responsible for a lot of interest in two key areas this year, ETFs and FinTech. Also, exchanges continued to develop their trading platforms and eco-systems across the region. These product and infrastructural enhancements attracted a number of buy-side firms (new and returning) to set up significant operations in the region during the second half of 2016. The augmented trading products, technology, and infrastructure are expected to give market data and trading more opportunity in the coming year!
Europe

FISD expanded its footprint in continental Europe during 2016, returning to a busy Amsterdam gathering in January, Paris in May, and a new event in Zürich in September bolstered by partnership with the Swiss IPUG. London’s Tech Forum in March at JP Morgan was particularly well-attended, and the June event at BT Centre included more members than ever. October’s event at the London Stock Exchange included rapid-fire product pitches from startupbootcamp’s fledgling FinTech firms, and the year finished off celebrating with Christmas roast, Yorkshire pudding, and a presentation on the Finance of Football with long-time host Thomson Reuters.
NEW AND NOTEWORTHY

ICE Data Services Receives SL&C 2016 Outstanding Data Provider Award

ICE Data Services was named 2016 winner of the Outstanding Data Provider Award. The awardee was recognized by members of the working group for strong adherence to the suggested recommendations contained in the group’s best practices document. The presentation was made at the December 15th General Meeting in New York. Bolsa Mercados de Valores (BMV) and Nasdaq were also recognized as finalists for this Award.

Lunch & Learn Feeds Minds and Bodies

FISD Lunch & Learn had its debut in 2015 and grew in 2016 to become a staple of the events calendar. The concept is to offer smaller, in-depth tutorials, presented by strong teachers giving background on a diverse range of interesting topics at lunch or a casual reception. In 2016, OTC Markets gave an overview on new crowdfunding regulations impacting the capital markets, ICAP delivered a stellar presentation on MiFID II from a non-equities perspective, and Money.net’s Morgan Downey gave a historically contextualized overview of oil market volatility. This last event marked the first occasion where members networked with a dog as well as each other.

MiFID II Specialty Roundtables Spin-Off

Although the deadline for MiFID II was thankfully extended to January 2018 giving a bit more breathing room for compliance, the participation in roundtable discussion was so great that the group expanded and then split into interest groups. A specialist reference data working group spun off at the beginning of 2016, with over 70 attending the inaugural meeting at Bloomberg, held jointly with FIX. Three subsequent meetings advanced the understanding of ISINs for all instruments, ESMA collecting and distributing reference data daily, and the need for more LEIs. The real-time group continued to focus on the potential consequences of data disaggregation.

Professional Certification Reaches Milestone
Two stories dominated 2016. First, the FISD FIA is without question a robust success. The program reached an exciting milestone when the 1,000th candidate passed the FISD FIA in December 2016 and the new syllabus and updated exam were both well-received. The second big story was planning towards the “Level 2” certification to build on the success of the FISD FIA. A steering group has convened and work commenced on specialist modules. Most definitely, 2017 will be the year of Level 2 deliverables.

Women’s Group Goes Global
The FISD Women’s Group expanded again in 2016. Delegates gathered for networking and education in New York, London, Hong Kong, and for the first time, Singapore. For this inaugural event, FISD partnered with the Financial Women’s Association of Singapore and welcomed over 120 delegates for a networking lunch and panel discussion on the role of FinTech in Asia. Other events featured topics as diverse as getting women into the C-suite in financial information, overcoming fear of networking, and how to get the best out of your sales relationships. More expansion is planned for 2017!
WORKING GROUP ROUNDUP

Consumer Constituency Group (CCG)
The CCG was led in 2016 by Carol Couch of Capital Group, Ed Flynn of Morgan Stanley, and Paola Cereghino of JP Morgan, in the global leadership. Together, CCG members created a vendor scorecard working group, which culminated in a template published in July. The CCG also formed a new sub-group to examine the issues associated with Vendor Administrative Fees. The “U.S. Exchange” sub-group focused on data issues related to U.S. exchanges and tape plans and provided significant input to the CTA and UTP advisory committees especially on issues related to classification of non-professionals.

Data Vendor Constituency Group (DVCG)
The DVCG met regularly in 2016 on such topics as:

- Discussion on numerous exchange policies to address questions and help ensure compliance
- Increasing dialogue and communication between Americas, EMEA, and APAC based-vendor firms
- Discussions on changes related to upcoming MiFID II implementation in 2018
- Input on definitions for terms included in the updated FISD Glossary

Exchange Constituency Group
Looking back, 2016 was a well-attended and vibrant year for discussion among exchanges. The regular “tour de table” segment has enabled more exchanges to get engaged in the discussions. This quick update segment from each exchange has generated ideas for more general discussion including: the use of more digital documentation, a prime example being DocuSign, the rise of binary options on the European radar, a recognition that historic and time series data was receiving more attention, and finally, a general sense that data policies on issues like non-display were due for review.

Business Issues Policy and Practice Standards (BIPPS)
BIPPS continued its important cross-constituency advocacy, including updating the FISD Glossary, enhancing some definitions and adding all-new terms like “Market Data”, “Reference Data”, “Index”, “Index Constituent”, and “Index Constituent Weighting”.

Credit Rating Agency Constituent Group (CRA-CG)
The expanded CRA-CG met regularly in New York while its sister group, established in 2015, convened in London. The cybersecurity sub-group continued to meet to address concerns around protecting customer and corporate information.

Service Level and Communications Working Group
The year 2016 included a well-received webinar outreach to several exchanges for one-on-one insight related to the recommendations contained in the group’s Best Practices document. The group also modified the structure and process for selection of recipients of the Outstanding Data Provider Award and ultimately presented the 2016 Award to ICE Data Services. The group also enhanced the Executive Summary of the Best Practices document with additional language for increased clarification.
