SIIA Anti-Piracy Education

The SIIA Anti-Piracy division has been successful in addressing the misuse and piracy of protected intellectual property in large part by educating their target audiences. A number of products and methods have been used in this education and are described below.

Items available through SIIA's Resource eStore website

More than 40 items such as posters, videos, reports and stickers designed to increase awareness of misuse of intellectual property.

A number of educational programs and content

This includes white papers, surveys, legal interpretations, a glossary, policy guidelines and United States Code composed by SIIA staff

Licensing seminars

SIIA's Certified Content Rights Manager (CCRM) course is designed to explain the legal issues surrounding copyright law and how it pertains to licensing, disseminating, and use of publications and related content throughout organizations of all sizes. The courses are taught by an outside firm – LicenseLogic.

Listings and updates on Anti-piracy news

Links to current press releases and trade publication articles related to piracy as well as the Intellectual Property Update published by SIIA.

SIIA also supports a program that rewards “whistle-blowers” for reporting suspected pirates. At this time the FISD staff does not believe that this type of a program would be appropriate for misuse of market data based on the diversity of FISD membership compared with SIIA.
